President's Message

A Homage to the Delta Kappa Song

Now that we've begun singing the Delta Kappa Gamma song at a more upbeat tempo and we're only singing it on select occasions, I'm really taking pride in singing it. As I try to put meaning into the words when I'm singing, I'm beginning to have a new appreciation for the extreme dedication to the calling and challenges our founders must have had when they wrote it. I try to picture them sitting around a room coming up with the words. What dedication and commitment to the calling!

As it turns out, Dr. Annie Webb Blanton wrote the original song before DKG was formed and before any members were ever initiated, according to a document on the DKG website composed by Agnes Moynihan, Area Representative for Canada, 2012-2014, entitled History of Music in DKG. Dr. Blanton wanted the song sung to the tune of "Men of Harlech", an old Wales song that men sang as they marched in ceremonies.

But because the tune was difficult to sing, professor of primary education Cora Martin fit the words to the tune and refined the lyrics. The song was first sung, as you all know, at the close of the first initiation on May 11, 1929, at the University Faculty Women's Club in Austin. Later, Madame Viola Cole, a composer and member of the faculty of the Chicago Musical College, arranged the musical score for women's voices and transposed it to a lower key. That is the version still used today.

According to Ms. Moynihan, after the suffrage movement, even many women opposed women's organizations. Women were still being discriminated against in the 1920's: universities more often granted scholarships to men; women educators were often denied promotions in universities and in public schools; women were rarely elected to offices or boards of professional organizations; and as soon as a female teacher was married, she quickly became unemployed as a teacher.

Also according to Ms. Moynihan, men in general had a large network of friends they could call on for support, but women did not. These conditions combined to influence the purposes of the Society, the qualifications for membership, and the manner in which the Society was developed.

Just think about these words as you read them: (not all verses included)

"Women teachers to the calling, firmly rally, never falling, duty ne'er upon us palling,
staunch, courageous we!

Loyalty and trust e'er heeding, mindful of our sisters needing, aid and guidance from those leading, helpful may we be!

Guardians of the faith yet sleeping, for our sisters watch e'er keeping, deeds of others now we're reaping, we for others stand!

Oh, Delta Kappa Gamma, in thy fold we gather.
Unity and liberty, shall be our watch words ever!
Education e'er we'll further, each is bound to each as brother, with this faith in one another,
we shall win, for aye!"

Dr. Blanton was initially criticized for using the word "brother." But, according to Dr. Blanton, she used the word "brother" to indicate the close ties of friendship and love that bind our members together. To Dr. Blanton, "brotherhood" was a word of deeper meaning, and 'each is bound to each as brother' was meant to show that women could be just as supportive of each other as men.

"We return their gifts to heaven," according to Dr. Blanton, refers to the debt we owe our pioneers in higher education who strove to advance training of women "by aiding other women educators to advance, by founding scholarships, and by stretching out our hands to help women teachers who need aid."

Finally, in the final words to the song, "With this faith in one another we shall win, for aye!", "aye" rhymes with "hay," which, when pronounced this way according to Webster's Dictionary, means always, continually, ever. This is intended to confirm that the faith women have in each other will be for always.

So when you sing the Delta Kappa Gamma Song, think of how special those words really are, and then each time you sing it, sing it with joy...sing it with conviction...sing it with exuberance...sing it with respect...sing it with fervor...sing it with humility...sing it with honor...sing it with pride...sing it with love and admiration for one another.

Richards Leadership Grants Awarded

The EPSILON KAPPA EDUCATIONAL FOUNDATION is pleased to announce the recipients of this year's Phyllis Richards Leadership Grants. Diane Dolezel and Mary Louise Poolman were awarded grants to attend the TSO Convention in San Antonio in June.

Diane was initiated into Epsilon Kappa in October 2012 and currently is a member of the chapter membership committee. She is an Assistant Professor in the Department of Health Information Management at Texas State University – San Marcos.

Mary Louise was initiated in 2005 and currently chairs the chapter membership committee. A retired elementary teacher, she is also a member of the SEE Project committee and mentors an early-career educator at McBee Elementary School.

Phyllis Richards Leadership Grants provide financial support for Epsilon Kappa members to attend Delta Kappa Gamma leadership events. Both Diane and Mary Louise are members of the Educational Excellence Committee. Congratulations, Diane and Mary Louise!

Membership Review

In the May/June DKG News, our International President, Dr. Lyn Babb Schmid, explores some ideas on how to pursue membership challenges from the Gen Y/Millennial generation. These women from the 18 – 34 year old group have a variety of issues that current members need to examine when trying to recruit educators into their chapters. Dr. Schmid recently conducted a live webinar to gather information that may shape future changes in the Society. Their greatest professional challenges include: how to stay within the profession; the need for support; myriad changes in law, policies, and reforms; lack of time; paying off student loans; frustrating standardization; and new teacher-evaluation systems.

Next Dr. Schmid asked what these young educators want in a professional organization. They responded with some very interesting comments: networking opportunities with leadership training; support for new teachers; professional development on current issues along with emotional support; affordable webinars, conferences, and resources; frequent service-oriented opportunities; positive conversation; and an organization that welcomes family involvement. As Dr. Schmid points out, these ideas give us great program ideas and ways to reach out to new members. In later issues of the News, Dr. Schmid will continue with four other pertinent questions from that webinar. Let us ponder these responses when seeking out younger professionals for membership in Epsilon Kappa.

TSO Convention Rapidly Approaching!

The TSO Convention in San Antonio is quickly upon us! June 25-27, 2015

With San Antonio so close to Austin, you can drive over for 1, 2, or 3 days. We usually have 8-10 members that regularly attend TSO Convention, but let's try to top that this year. Those that need CPE can sign-up for credit. Come enjoy the festive San Antonio flare, take a boat ride, enjoy some Mexican food, make new friends from other chapters as well as visit with our own members, support Earin being presented as Epsilon Kappa President on Friday night, and celebrate Marilyn and Sandi being installed as TSO officers on Saturday night. You can still register, so plan on coming! See you in San Antonio!

Book Lovers Unite!

Please join us in reading and discussing the first adult novel by JK Rowlings, The Casual Vacancy. We plan to meet two times in order to thoroughly cover this lengthy book; we will meet Saturday, June 20, at 3:30-5:30, at the home of Mary Louise Poolman and on Saturday, July 18, from 3:30-5:30, at the home of Bernadine Eaton.

It is very different from the Harry Potter books; "very unmagical: the closest thing to wizardry is the ability to hack into . . . a small town website." The empty seat left on the parish council soon becomes "the catalyst for the biggest war the town has seen."

We would love to have you join us.

Lunch Bunch—Brunch

We're changing meeting time to 10:00 AM, to try to avoid a little of the last afternoon heat of the summer months. So if you would enjoy some casual visiting time, which will include both breakfast and lunch entrees, please join us at Tuesday, June 9, at Kerbey Lane Cafe, 4301 William Cannon, 78749. We will be gathering at 10:00 AM. This is a great time to bring other friends to enjoy a relaxing, pleasing time together. Please come.

News Eye on the Web...And Beyond

Be sure and keep dkgtexas.org bookmarked on your computers. There is a constant updating of state news and will be a source of all kinds of summer events. Right now you will find:

- *At the top, the summer edition of the Lone Star News
- *Get Connected, a tech article from International
- *Photo of Nu Alpha, the newest state chapter with 32 charter members
- *The TSO convention website
- *The ASTEF invitation to a trip to Savannah, Georgia, in October
- *Announcement for the second Arts Retreat in Navasota, February 19-21, 2016
- *A link to the new ASTEF website

By the time you receive our newsletter, the print edition of The Lone Star News will be out. As you review it, take a closer look at some of the articles that have interest for us. Nancy Newton announced that the International Convention is coming to Austin in 2018. Many of us will be helping out with that, as both of our past Area 7 Coordinators, Joan Hester and Laura Packard are co-chairs. And they know very well that we have members who are good workers! Marcia Kirkland has already been named treasurer. Also in that article, we are reminded to bring our own totes and smart devices to the June TSO convention. Read about changes in the convention schedule. On pages 6 and 7 is a list of the break out sessions. Marcia is doing one for seasoned treasurers. Epsilon Kappa will have one hour at the Techno Expo to share about our Annie and ASTEF projects and the website. We are the only chapter that was chosen to tell about all three subjects. Page 8 has the names of Marie Scheel and Jolene Crozier under "Alpha State Remembers". Look for details of amendments to the State rules on pages 10 – 12. Earin's recent president's message is found on page 13. A short description of the Southwest Regional is on the last page. Just in: additional amendments to the State rules are now posted on the TSO website besides the ones printed in the Lone Star News.

Clicking on dkg.org gives us the International website. The top moving banner has information about the spring gallery of arts, a link to the May/June News, a peek at the new marketing brochure, scholarship recipients, and an easy way to register for Regional conferences. At the bottom of the page, the second box shows a link to the proposed revisions to the DKG constitution. Just above that is the icon for the new Collegial Magazine. Janye Brainard of Texas submitted the winning title. It will feature reciprocal giving and receiving of practical tips related to teaching and DKG. Members can contribute reviews of educational materials and technology. Personal creative pieces are encouraged. August 1 is the deadline for submission of articles for the very first issue slated for November 2015. This should be an excellent tool for anyone still in the classroom.

In early May the Austin American Statesman had a list of the HEB Excellence in Education Awards. If anyone has a connection to Windemere Primary in Pflugerville or Elsa England Elementary in Round Rock, two of the winners might be potential DKG members if they are not already! A report in the Round Rock Leader highlighted a new program to establish partnerships for secondary educators with a business in the area. These 'externships' will be for just one week during the summer so teachers can see how their subject is being used in the real world and be able to readjust the curriculum.

Food for Thought

No-Knead Bread

Recipe Contributed by Claudia Knowles
(Claudia brought this homemade bread to an Educational Excellence committee meeting, and it's excellent.)

Adapted from Jim Lahey, Sullivan Street Bakery
Time: About 1_ hours plus 14 to 20 hours' rising

3 cups all-purpose or bread flour, more for dusting
1/4 teaspoon instant yeast
1/4 teaspoons salt
Cornmeal or wheat bran as needed

Image from Creative Commons

1. In a large bowl combine flour, yeast and salt. Add 1 1/2 cups water, and stir until blended; dough will be shaggy and sticky. Cover bowl with plastic wrap. Let dough rest at least 12 hours, preferably about 18, at warm room temperature, about 70 degrees.
2. Dough is ready when its surface is dotted with bubbles. Lightly flour a work surface and place dough on it; sprinkle it with a little more flour and fold it over on itself once or twice. Cover loosely with plastic wrap and let rest about 15 minutes.
3. Using just enough flour to keep dough from sticking to work surface or to your fingers, gently and quickly shape dough into a ball. Generously coat a cotton towel (not terry cloth) with flour, wheat bran or cornmeal; put dough seam side down on towel and dust with more flour, bran or cornmeal. Cover with another cotton towel and let rise for about 2 hours. When it is ready, dough will be more than double in size and will not readily spring back when poked with a finger.
4. At least a half-hour before dough is ready, heat oven to 450 degrees. Put a 6- to 8-quart heavy covered pot (cast iron, enamel, Pyrex or ceramic) in oven as it heats. When dough is ready, carefully remove pot from oven. Slide your hand under towel and turn dough over into pot, seam side up; it may look like a mess, but that is O.K. Shake pan once or twice if dough is unevenly distributed; it will straighten out as it bakes. Cover with lid and bake 30 minutes, then remove lid and bake another 15 to 30 minutes, until loaf is beautifully browned. Cool on a rack.

Yield: One 1 1/2-pound loaf.

I found watching this video to be very helpful in getting the 'feel' for the bread. It is so easy and you can't go wrong!
Enjoy...Claudia

Austin Chapters Celebrate Founders' Day

The Founders' Day Celebration on Saturday, May 2, at Green Pasture's Restaurant was great fun! Twenty-seven Epsilon Kappa members joined the festivities. There were opportunities to greet friends from other chapters, amazing achievement awards, an informative speaker, good food, and a 'hats off' performance celebrating the Founders by our own Epsilon Kappa members. Also an extra bonus: two desserts - Green Pasture's signature ice-cream crumb ball AND birthday cake.

Outstanding Educator Awards were given to a chapter member from each Austin chapter. Epsilon Kappa's recipient was Hilda Diaz.

Three 50- year members from Epsilon Kappa were in attendance and were recognized: Maurine Atwood, Margaret Wallace, and Gene Nelson-Jones.

The speaker, Dr. Debbie Cottrel, currently Vice President for Academic Affairs at Texas Lutheran University, discussed the writing of her biography of Dr. Annie Webb Blanton, entitled Pioneer Woman Educator: The Progressive Spirit of Annie Webb Blanton.

And last but not least was Epsilon Kappa's tribute to the founders, "Hats Off To Our Founders," organized and directed by Deb Acevedo-Tamminga. Participants were: Janet Bernard, Cindy Gruner, Earin Martin, Mary Louise Poolman, Kathy Mihalik, Cheryl Lane, Marilyn Gregory, Jo Watts, Pam Kelly, Sandi Causey, Deb Acevedo-Tamminga, Elizabeth Newell, Kristen Lowrie and Bernadine Eaton.

A good time was had by all!

Hilda Diaz Receives Epsilon Kappa Outstanding Educator Award for 2015

Hilda Diaz, chapter member since 2011, received Epsilon Kappa's 2015 Outstanding Educator Award at the May 2 Founders' Day Luncheon at Green Pastures. The Austin Coordinating Council presented an Outstanding Educator Award to one member of each of the five Austin area chapters.

Hilda teaches 4th grade Dual Language at Walnut Creek Elementary School in Austin ISD. She was named the Teacher of Promise in her first year at the school. During that year, she led workshop discussions within the faculty, kept her class running smoothly, and contributed many organizational ideas to her grade-level team.

Hilda was selected as the 2011-2012 Teacher of the Year at Walnut Creek Elementary. She has expanded her leadership at the school by becoming the team leader and implementing a dual language program so praised by the district that she has led workshops on dual language and bi-literacy. Additionally, she uses her computer skills to help others learn to tap into educational resources. In 2015-2016 she will serve as the 4th grade team coach at her school, where she will leave the classroom in order to assist her team members daily.

One team member describes Hilda as supportive through her objectivity, leadership, showing that she cares about her grade level's success, and helping other teachers make things happen. She designs math lessons for students using appropriate questions and activities and materials to engage and stimulate them. Hilda is able to think on her feet by making appropriate quick decisions when needed.

Hilda sponsored an after-school soccer workshop for interested students. Last fall, she was recognized by her university in Monterrey, Mexico for her soccer skills (Sports Hall of Fame) and educational excellence for the years she was a student there.

In the spring of 2009, Hilda was honored by receiving the Epsilon Kappa Outstanding First-Year Teacher Award. While waiting to be invited to join DKG in the fall of 2011, she researched the Society and chapter. Since her initiation, she has contributed to various committees and worked with the chapter SEE project to help and mentor other early career teachers. She currently serves as the 2014-2016 Epsilon Kappa Second Vice President.

Congratulations, Hilda! Well-done!
